

The Environmental Protection Agency
has announced that it has approved
the use of radiation warning signs to identify radioactive materials.

The Environmental Protection Agency
has announced that it has approved
the use of radiation warning signs
to identify radioactive materials.